All About Cascades

- We're all in the family
- Sustainable facts
- We're green all over

We're all in the family

Cascades was founded in 1964 when the three Lemaire brothers (Bernard, Laurent and Alain) discovered they could make a difference for families around the world with eco-friendly fibers. Today, every Cascader is considered part of this growing family business, which is built on mutual respect for each other and the environment.

Located in North America and Europe

11,000 men and women

Over 90 operating units

Cascades closes the loop by recovering waste materials and processing them into new, responsible and innovative products.

Sustainable facts

Our responsible nature uses:

6 times less water than the industry average. The volume of water saved adds up to more than 2,657,879

above-ground 21-foot swimming pools per year!

2.5 times less energy than the industry average. The energy conserved adds up to the annual consumption of 307,021 households

3.1 million short tons of recycled fibers comparable to

> 45 million trees saved

We're green all over

with proof to back it up:

Green Seal

Green Seal requires products are made with a minimum of post-consumer recycled material. It's the most widely recognized "green" certification in the United States.

UL/ECOLOGO

UL requires that manufacturers use responsible chemicals that are safe for the environment. It's the most widely recognized "green" certification in Canada.

Green-e® renewable energy credits

Cascades is the first and only tissue product manufacturer to offset part of its production with certified Green-e® renewable energy credits.

Forest Stewardship Council® (FSC®)

Certification attesting that the virgin fibers we use come from responsibly managed forests.
